● Result driven ● Proactive ● Social ● Inquisitive ●

I am technical and creative, which I further developed during my degree and job experience. This makes me very valuable in the field of packaging design. I am a hard worker and quick learner, which comes in handy with starting new projects. I am result driven and will do everything to ensure timely delivery of projects. As a team player I'm sensitive for what people feel and think, which benefits me in discussions. I can get really excited about projects. This enthusiasm is clearly visible and even infectious for my colleagues. During my time as a packaging Engineer I learned about materials, how it works in a factory and how the design can impact other function. I work within a design team and with external partners.
